DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 5, 6, 18-24 and 27-33 withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on December 1, 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-4, 7-10, 13, 15, 16, 25 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bolaski, Jr. (3,497,233).

Bolaski, Jr. discloses a suspension connecting a wheel support to a body of a vehicle, the wheel support being designed to carry a wheel of radius "r", the wheel comprising means that confer upon the wheel support, relative to the body, a degree of freedom of camber and a degree of freedom of deflection of the suspension which are independent of one another, wherein the system is configured in such manner that the camber movement of the wheel support relative to the body has, around a mean position, an instantaneous center of rotation located within a range from 2.5 r above ground to r below ground. The instantaneous center of rotation is located in a range from 0.3 r above ground to 0.5 r below ground. The instantaneous center of rotation is located in a range from 0.2 r above ground to 0.4 r below ground. The instantaneous center of rotation is located in a range from 0.1 r above ground to 0.3 r below ground. The system configured such that the system is close to equilibrium in the mean position when no transverse force is exerted by the ground on the wheel in the contact area. The system configured such that in the absence of camber variations the transverse force exerted by the ground on the wheel in the contact area generated during large suspension deflections does not exceed a limit corresponding to $0.3P$, "P" being the axle load. Bolaski, Jr. teaches a rocker 68 connected on the one hand to the body and on the other hand to the wheel support, such that the link of the rocker to the body enables the degree of freedom of the camber. The instantaneous center of rotation is located below ground level so that the transverse forces exerted by the ground on the wheel in the contact area induce an inclination of the wheel support relative to the body in the direction of reduced camber when the transverse forces are directed towards the inside of the vehicle, and in the direction of increased camber when the transverse forces are directed towards the outside of the vehicle. The rocker is connected to the body by two rods 146 so configured as to allow the camber movement of the wheel support by virtue of an instantaneous rotation movement of the rocker relative to the body. The rocker is connected to the body by a curved slide-bar 18 so configured as to allow the camber movement of the wheel support by virtue of an instantaneous rotation movement of the rocker relative to the body. The rocker is connected to the body by two straight slide-bars 20 so as to allow the camber movement of the wheel support by virtue of an instantaneous rotation movement of the rocker relative to the body.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 11, 12, 14 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

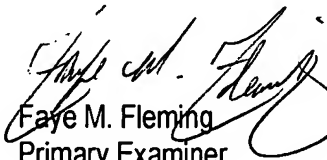

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
